STATE G. A. R. HOLDS ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Session of Woman's Relief Corps Also Held--Election of Officers of Both Organizations

The annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and affiliated organizations was held at Concord on Thursday and Friday. The advance guard began arriving Thursday afternoon and evening, the Woman's Relief Corps had an informal reception at the Eagle, which was well attended by members and the veterans who were in the city. Thursday morning the delegates began arriving in large numbers, although a large proportion of those who came never saw service in the Civil war. Eloquent testimony to the dwindling membership of those who fought the great fight of a century ago was borne in the membership report made by General Frank Ballies of the meeting of the department this afternoon in Representatives' hall when he said that 131 had been taken by the Grim Reaper since the last encampment and that the total membership is now less

VILLA WILL GIVE BATTLE

Has Made a Stand Near Parral and is Awaiting There With 2000 Followers
for U. S. Troops

(Special to The Herald)
El Paso, April 7.—Villa has selected his battle ground near Parral, and is awaiting there with 2,000 of his bandit followers, the American troops sent to effect his capture. This rumor drifted over the border today while persistent reports were circulated here that the Carranza government would in the near future demand the withdrawal of the United States forces. The force which Villa joined after his dash southward from San Gonzalo ranch, is said to be well equipped with rifles and machine guns and have plenty of ammunition. It is the opinion of military men on the border that Villa has been attempting to lead the American troops into a trap.

Hunting for Villa is the Parral district will be like looking for a needle in a haystack. This opinion was expressed today by Major General Funston when he was asked what he thought the prospects were for capturing the elusive bandit. Mexican advisers say that Villa has reached the Parral district, but Funston is still hopeful that the Americans, who reached Salero in hot pursuit of the fleeing chieftain, have succeeded in overhauling him. If they have not, the infantry will be given their first chance of a scrap as soon as they can be sent forward. The hunt for Villa will have to be made on foot. The Apache Indian scouts now assembled at Columbus are now expected to go forward immediately.

STEAMSHIPS ARE TAKEN

Dutch Government Seizing
Them for Military Purposes.

(Special to The Herald)
The Hague, April 7.—The Dutch Ministry of Marine has begun to commandeer steamships for military purposes. Although the foreign office is attempting to allay public fears by the reiterated announcement that Holland is on friendly terms with all the belligerents, and that the war measures are merely precautionary, the national feeling of anxiety is becoming high. There is a division of sentiment on the part of the public between the Allies and the Teutons. The telegraph of Amsterdam, one of the most powerful papers in the kingdom, has openly espoused the cause of the Allies, having been friendly to that side since the conflict began.

WILL NOT BE WITHDRAWN

U. S. Forces Will Remain in Mexico Until Villa Is Taken.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, April 7.—From a high official source today came word that the United States forces will not be withdrawn from Mexico until Villa is either captured or killed. This announcement was made semi-officially and was taken to be an answer to reports that General Carranza may ask this country to withdraw its troops from below the Rio Grande. Officials pointed out that the object of the expedition is to "get Villa dead or alive." President Wilson is understood to have told his advisors that he will not be content with anything else.

BIG AIRSHIP GOES ADRIFT

Was Constructed at the Local Navy Yard.

(Special to The Herald)
Pensacola, Fla., April 7.—The big new dirigible airship belonging to the navy today broke from its moorings and was soon traveling rapidly inland. The airship is worth about $60,000. Aeroplanes will probably be sent in pursuit.

This dirigible is the one recently constructed at the local navy yard by the Connecticut Air Craft Company.

SENATE RESUMES FIGHT ON VOLUNTEER ARMY PLAN

Washington, April 6.—The fight over the federal volunteer plan of the army reorganization bill was today resumed in the Senate. An amendment by Senator Lee of Maryland to strike out the provision was the immediate business before the Senate. Action on the proposal had again been deferred in order to permit one of the senators to speak. Advocates of the provision predicted that it had been saved.

National Guard Interference Decried

Debate on the volunteer provision lasted all day yesterday, champions of the National Guard supporting the amendment occupying most of the time. In the closing hour, however, Senator Chamberlain vigorously defended the provision as vital to any military plan and denounced attempts of National Guard organizations to interfere with legislation. He was joined by Senators O'Gorman and Williams warning the Senate that at the close of the European war the United States would need a great navy, and an adequate army to back her demands upon the belligerent powers for indemnification for the losses sustained through violations of her rights as a neutral.

"As surely as the sun rises tomorrow morning," Senator Williams said, "unless this country puts itself into a condition where it can resist and withstand bullying, we are going to be in trouble with the victor in this war unless we surrender the positions we have diplomatically taken and timidly submit to the rule which the victor may lay down for immunity or disclaimer."

"Self preservation is the international code of the belligerents," said Senator O'Gorman, who contended that rights of neutrals had been invaded by all of the warring European powers. "And protests of neutrals will be regarded," he added, "if backed by sufficient power to enforce their demands."

"Must Back Demands by Force." "When this war is over," said Senator Chamberlain, "if we intend to demand recompense for American lives and property destroyed, if we are going to demand any satisfaction, then we ought to be prepared to back up our demands by force of arms, if necessary. And in what condition are we? We have not the power to enforce a single demand we have made."

Senator Williams declared that while increasing the army was important, enlarging the navy was of first importance. The senator said he would vote to increase any building program that might be framed, and favored such a navy by 1918 that it could meet and defeat any force that might be started against it.

"This war cannot last more than one or two years," he said, "if it lasts longer than that it will produce universal bankruptcy."

National Guard Arraigned

Senator Chamberlain's arraignment of the National Guard facilities was supported by Senators McCumber and Nelson, who called attention to telegrams from National Guard officials sent to senators urging them to vote against the federal volunteer provision.

"If the National Guard intends to come here politically and undertakes to control legislation calculated to protect America against the world," said the Oregon senator, "for one from now on shall favor the elimination of the National Guard as a military factor in this country. They have been here and are here for this purpose."

Senator Nelson declared that he never before had seen such lobbying as these outside influences have brought to bear to defeat certain sections of this bill.

Senator Sherman sought to introduce a resolution to investigate charges of lobbying. Senator Chamberlain said he would favor it when brought up in the regular way, but would not permit it to delay consideration of the army bill.

Forego Universal Training

Senator O'Gorman and Senator Chamberlain both predicted that in the end the country must come to universal military training to solve its army problems. Both the federalization of the militia and the volunteer scheme were experiments, Senator O'Gorman said, and should be tried as such.

Senator Chamberlain called attention to telegrams from the Military Training Camps Association introduced by Senator Chamberlain urging that the volunteer provision be retained. He asked if these were not of a similar phase with the messages from National Guard officers to various senators.

Senator Chamberlain disagreed. While he felt that every citizen had the right to appeal to Congress, he said the National Guard movement had assumed the proportions of a definite organized propaganda.

"The greatest danger of militarism there is in this bill," he said, "is in the political power we may be building up in the National Guard, the power we have already seen and felt here."

This rapid growth is largely due to the increased knowledge of having bank life insurance which the press of the Commonwealth has so freely given. Dividends declared this year by all four savings insurance banks makes the net cost considerably lower than in the insurance companies.

A pageant on April 19 in which the historic ride of Paul Revere will be reenacted, is being planned by Mayor Curley and Secretary Everett B. Merriam of the city's public celebrations committee. The tentative plans call for an address by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham in North Square, near the old Paul Revere house, and a big band concert. The details of the possible pageant will be discussed at a meeting to be called within the next few days. Secretary Merriam reported to Mayor Curley a tentative plan for a more hearty participation by the city in the observance of Memorial day, including Boston Common exercises.

A base hospital unit for use in war time, the first of its kind in the country has been organized in Boston under the direction of Dr. Frederick A. Washburn, resident physician of the Massachusetts General hospital and superintendent of the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary. The United States War Department through Col. Jefferson R. Keen, director general of the department of military relief of the American Red Cross, superintended the organization and the chief of staff, made up of physicians and surgeons connected with the Massachusetts General hospital, includes many of the most skilled doctors in Boston.

Boston, April 7.—Governor Samuel W. McCall is to discuss his commission consolidation plans and his constitutional convention proposition before the members of the Boston Press club on Saturday noon at the clubhouse, on Beacon street. This will be the first public discussion of the consolidation work by the governor. He has given an outline of his plan to the legislature.

Pretty Girls in "A WORLD OF PLEASURE," opening an engagement at the Shubert Theatre Boston, April 10th

"A WORLD OF PLEASURE"

Latest New York Winter Garden Success Comes to Shubert Theatre, Boston, Next Week, Opening Monday, April 10

Of more than usual interest to the lovers of mammoth musical extravaganza is the announcement of the coming to the Shubert Theatre next week, April 10th, of "A World of Pleasure," the very latest New York Winter Garden triumph to go on tour. This means that there will be a veritable army of your favorite musical comedy artists on one stage, for there are actually 125 people in this company, including such well-known stars as Clifton Crawford, the eminent English comedian; Conroy and LeMatre, the incomparable minstrel comedians; Collins and Hart, the exuberantly funny comedians who make people roar with laughter while they perform in mid-air; McMahon, Diamond and Chaplow, a trio of artists noted for their great versatility in singing, dancing and talking; Helen Goff, the charming prima donna; Vanta Pitt-burn with a winsome style all her own; Franklin Bates, the handsome singer and dancer; Margaret Edwards, the sensationally famous dancer; and the truly famous Rosie Quinn.

The chorus, exactly 100 strong, is headed by the most beautiful of any Winter Garden assembly. There are eight sumptuously striking scenes, and each one is promised as a distinct novelty in all that the word implies. At least 20 of the song numbers are hits. The comedy element in the revue predominates and is of the highest variety that seems worth while. In fact it has been accepted in New York as the "biggest and best of all the Winter Garden shows."

"HOBSON'S CHOICE"

"Hobson's Choice" has made the same sort of a hit in Boston as it has in New York. This quaint comedy so completely and instantaneously charmed the theatre-goers of Gotham that it had to move out of the little Princess Theatre to a large theatre where larger crowds could be accommodated but it will be seen in Boston only at the cozy Wilbur Theatre, where the best comedies are always seen and where the longest runs of comedy successes are now being made.

The theatre going public has waked to the thoroughly amusing and yet logical fun of "Hobson's Choice," and capacity houses at the Wilbur theatre laugh at old man Hobson's domineering tactics, Maggie taking the law into her own hands, and Will Mossop's evolution from a faithful but to the membership of Hobson and Mossop. Rarely is such unrestrained hilarity witnessed in a first class theatre as greets the funny close of the third act, where Maggie seizes her "newly-wed" by the ear and drags him off with her. But the entire performance is an artistic delight, marked by the producer's lively sense of reality and by the fine acting of the cast that includes Molly Peterson, Whitford Kane and S. G. Andrews. Popular priced matinee is given Wednesday and regular Saturday matinees. Molly Peterson, the erstwhile Bonty, is a splendid savior to this clever role as is Whitford Kane to that of the bashful husband of A. G. Andrews to the role of the domineering father. In fact the whole performance is an artistic delight.

WILLIAM HODGE

William Hodge has made some remarkable records for long runs in Boston. With "The Man From Home" he made a record at the Park Theatre which for number of weeks has never been duplicated. Last season in his "The Road to Happiness" at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, he ran into the sixth month, and he is now about to

GREAT COLONIAL ARMY FOR FRANCE

London, April 6.—A writer in the London World says:

"I now understand that France is now employed in raising and training a large colonial army for use on the western front this summer. Up to the present no fewer than 450,000 native troops have been raised by outposts for service in the various campaigns. The majority came from North Africa and many have already fought in France and Gallipoli. A considerable force, which has been engaged in the Cameroons, is now liberated for service in France. Forty thousand men were obtained from Morocco, while even Indo-China has supplied between forty and fifty thousand men. Most of these have been employed for garrison work in the French garrisons, but they have also been used for industrial purposes, notably in making aeroplane frames and munitions generally."

OFFICERS' SCHOOL AT ARMORY

The officers of the Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. N. G., from all the commands in the state were in attendance last evening at the Armory in this city at a class of instruction under Captain Wilson, U. S. A., attached to the Boston Harbor defenses. Commissioned and non-commissioned officers from Portsmouth, Dover, Exeter and Lincoln were present.

BOWLING

Portsmouth Defeated by Dover. On the Arcade Alley last evening Portsmouth again took the count from Dover, losing their return bowling game by four points. All three strings were captured by the visitors and the total pin-fall was won by 57 pins.

The greatest amount of credit belongs to Eli, anchor man on the Dover team for rolling the three wonderful scores and his big total. Eli rolled 110, 123 and 128 for a total of 361, three of the greatest strings rolled on the Arcade Alley. He was just 100 pins ahead of the anchor man on the Portsmouth five.

With the exception of Eli, the Dover team rollers were defeated man for man by the local opponents but that hundred pins made by him were enough to win a dozen matches. For Portsmouth, Sam Kingsbury rolled high with a total score of 325. The summary:

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness, and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then feel fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful after-dinner drink, water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

GUARANTEED CHICKS.

It's not the number of chicks you hatch that count but the number that live. Careful mating of my breeding pens, the proper selection of eggs, a thorough knowledge of the art of incubation combined with all modern facilities in hatching have made possible the following:

I guarantee every chick to live and will replace all lost during the "critical period."

COLE AND COLE BILL ORDERED TO BE PAID

Answer of the Board of Public Works for Reasons Why They Had Contracted Bill Against City for Inspection of Pumping Station Heard Behind Closed Doors at Star Chamber Session of Council.

A question in which the citizens of Portsmouth are vitally interested, why the Board of Public Works contracted with Cole and Cole, Engineers, to inspect the Sherburne Pumping station and charge the city of Portsmouth the sum of $87.00 for this work, was discussed behind closed doors at the regular meeting of the City Council on Thursday evening. At the previous meeting, a motion was passed allowing a representative of the Board of Public Works to come into this meeting and explain their action. At the close of the meeting a resolution was adopted, paying the bill.

Beyond this secret session the only excitement was caused by a slight wordy battle between Councilmen Hett and Smart over the question of a meeting of the committee on fire department of which Councilman Smart, a member of the committee, was not notified.

The meeting was called to order at 8.00 o'clock with Councilmen Northwick, Matthews, Raynes, Hett, Peterson, Sullivan, Smart and Wood present. The Mayor stated that at his suggestion the committee on fire department, or one of the members of the committee, together with others, made an inspection of the fire alarm system and suggested that some action be taken by the council allowing the committee to have authority to get the alarm fixed once and for all.

Councilman Hett stated that the reason none of the committee but he had been present at the inspection was because the councilman from Ward 4 (Councilman Smart) was out of town. Councilman Smart stated that the chairman of the committee (Mr. Hett) was not working with the committee or the superintendent of the system and that he was in Portsmouth before 2.00 o'clock on the day of the meeting; that he met the chairman of the committee (Mr. Hett) at the railroad station that day. He said that the chairman knew that he was not out of town for the entire day.

Councilman Hett took exceptions to the statement that he was not working with the committee and said he was willing to assist the superintendent (Mr. Groux) in every way possible.

Councilman Smart stated that Mr. Groux had informed him that the councilman from Ward 1 (Mr. Hett) has asked him (Mr. Groux) why he didn't resign and allow the council to re-elect Mr. Ballard who could do the work.

Councilman Hett stated that he had not said that. He said, Mr. Groux came to me, or I met him, and he said he didn't give a damn for the job, to wit, it, and then I asked him why he didn't get out.

At this point the mayor interferred and the discussion was closed with Councilman Wood offering a motion, which was passed, asking Mr. Groux to meet the committee and to report to the Council at the next meeting.

was granted on motion offered by Councilman Smart.

On motion of Councilman Northwick Mr. E. C. Brown was given permission to open Willard avenue, the work to be done under the supervision of the Board of Public Works.

A petition from C. E. Steward to occupy certain streets for the moving of a building was granted on motion of Councilman Smart, the work to be done under the supervision of the Board of Public Works.

A petition from the Rockingham Light and Power Company for two pole locations on Park street was referred to the inspector of poles and wires to report at the next meeting on motion of Councilman Smart.

A report from the Board of Public Works, stating that they had found the sewer on Alkinson street, petitioned for by Harry Sussman and others to be taken over by the city, was inadequate and recommended that it not be accepted on motion offered by Councilman Smart.

A communication from the auditor, stating that his adding machine was badly out of repair, that it would cost over $100 to put in condition and that its present trade value was $56.00 would not be added to, was received. On motion of Councilman Northwick the matter was referred to the finance committee with power.

Bills to the amount of $1709.51, approved by the auditor, were ordered paid on motion offered by Councilman Northwick.

Councilman Smart offered a motion, which was passed, that the Board of Public Works be heard at that time in reference to the bill contracted through them against the city by Cole and Cole, Engineers, for an estimate on needed repairs and improvements at the Sherburne Pumping station. The motion was passed.

Councilman Hett offered a motion that the Council resolve into a committee of the whole to hear that matter. The motion was seconded by Councilman Raynes.

Councilmen Wood and Smart opposed this motion in debate, stating that this action, if passed, would exclude the public and the press, denying the citizens the right which they had of learning why the Board of Public Works had contracted to expend money without the authority of the council. Both of these members contended that the citizens were vitally interested in this question and that the passing of this motion was unjust. On a yeas and nays vote the motion carried: Councilmen Northwick, Matthews, Raynes, Hett, Peterson and Sullivan voting in the affirmative; Councilmen Smart and Wood in the negative.

Councilman Northwick was called to the chair as chairman at 3.20 and the meeting was again called to order at 3.45.

On motion of Councilman Northwick the sum of $57.00 was transferred from the funds of the water department to a special fund for the payment of the bill of Cole and Cole.

On motions of Councilman Wood and Hett the meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening, April 26.

CABLE LETTER

Berlin, April 6.—American papers recently reported that Emperor William was one of the silent partners of Baron Constantin von Mises, who made millions in mining enterprises and real estate speculations in British Columbia and the state of Washington during the last few years, but has probably been ruined by the war. This rumor is branded as a pure invention by the minister of the Prussian court.

The Kaiser never speculated and never owned any stock in any industrial corporation, domestic or foreign. His alleged interest in the Krupp works at Essen is a piece of fiction of the British and French press. It is authoritatively stated. The entire private fortune of the ruler is invested in real estate and his large title and noble factory at Caiden.

The German princes as a rule never try their hand in speculation, because with a few exceptions they are so wealthy that they have not much desire to increase their fortunes. King William II of Wurttemberg doubled in foreign stocks for a little while some years ago. He had very poor success, however, and sold his American and other shares after he had sunk half a million dollars or more.

of Poland, the chiefs of police and the other German authorities in the different Polish cities are issued in Polish, Yiddish, German and Russian. The official recognition of their language has of course been greeted with joy by the Jews.

The German general staff reports that Corporal Letat of the Fifth Prussian Chasseurs has been decorated by the Iron Cross of the first class for exceptional bravery. The corporal recently accompanied a patrol of officers which was reconnoitering the Russian positions southeast of Baranovitch. From a small hill the patrol discovered a detachment of about 150 Cossacks who were retreating before an infantry attack and came directly towards the height.

The German soldiers and their men disappointed to seek covering for the expected fight with the Russian cavalry. A moment later Corporal Letat discovered a Cossack who had reached the hill ahead of his comrades. Jumping on his horse again, the corporal dashed after the enemy and killed him with a shot from his revolver.

In the meantime, thirty other Cossacks had come up and the brave non-commissioned officer found himself surrounded. A shot from a Russian carbine shattered his jaw and he seemed lost but he kept his nerve. Grabbing his lance with both hands he wildly swung it in a circle over his head and attacked the Russians. The Russians were so surprised by this unexpected resistance of a single man that they turned and fled in all directions.

London, April 5.—Physicians are investigating a new disease, trench fever. At first it was thought that this malady contracted on the battlefield was some old disease in a new guise, but research now indicates it is a distinct species fever of relapsing type, not due to any virus hitherto known. The relapses may be one of several in number. The characteristic symptoms are headache and pain in the legs and small of the back.

AMERICAN YACHT FLAG MAY BE ABOLISHED

Word has been received from Washington of possible action in Congress, through the efforts of Secretary McAdoo, which will vitally affect a number of the members of the Portsmouth Yacht Club, as well as yachtsmen throughout the country. This is a proposed measure to make the flying of the American Yacht Flag at the stern of a yacht, illegal. An effort was made last evening to learn from officers of the Portsmouth Yacht Club their opinions of the proposal but owing to the great amount of work done at the meeting, when a large number of new members were taken into the club, nothing could be learned. The report from Washington respecting the use of the yacht flag and the newly proposed reserve navy flag, follows:

Only National Ensign at Stern.
Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is not only firmly convinced that no American ship should fly anything but the national ensign at the stern, but the point at which vessels of all nations display their nationality—but he wants to take away privileges that were granted three-quarters of a century ago to yacht owners, and to make it a misdemeanor to fly on the after-part of a vessel anything but the regulation Stars and Stripes.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels takes practically the same position, but is not on record in favor of penalties. The Department of Commerce, over which Secretary Redfield presides, has taken a different position, through its solicitor, A. L. Thurman, who was acting secretary of the Union the matter was brought in.

The Senate recently passed a bill permitting the United States Power Squadrons to fly a distinctive flag. The Power Squadrons is an organization of motor boat yachtsmen having headquarters in Boston. It has designed a flag for which it seeks Government sanction. The flag contains an anchor surrounded by stars in the field, and the remainder is composed of alternate stripes of white and blue, running vertically. This is the flag that was authorized in the measure passing the Senate. When a similar bill was introduced in the House by Representative Roberts of Massachusetts it was referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The committee sought the views of three cabinet officers on the subject.

Coast Guard Object to Flag

Secretary McAdoo has the Coast Guard in his department, and he referred the flag proposition to the officers of that service. They discovered that the proposed flag of the Power Squadrons was very similar to the Coast Guard flag, the only great difference being in the color of the vertical stripes, which, in the case of the Coast Guard are red and white. This similarity was considered an objection particularly as the Coast Guard is the only organization possessing a flag with vertical stripes. The Coast Guard officers reported against the plans of the Power Squadrons, which is a Massachusetts corporation. It is understood to be the desire of the Squadrons to fly their flag at the stern of members' vessels. No American vessel today, except a yacht, flies anything but the Stars and Stripes at the stern. This applies to naval as well as commercial vessels. Even the Coast Guard cutters do not fly their distinctive signal at the stern, but at the fore. Stern flags, the world over, are tokens of nationality.

Yachts, however, are an exception, under an act of Congress of 1849. They were then given the right to fly a distinctive flag, in return for which naval architects and designers were to have the privilege of examining and copying yacht models. If they wanted to, but even this permission by Congress did not specify that the distinctive flag was to be displayed at the stern. However, the yacht flag as it appears today, so that American yachts are the only exception to the general rule of the sea.

Concerning the present practice of yachts, Secretary McAdoo wrote to the committee: "The propriety of permitting this custom to continue—using the so-called yacht ensign as a substitute for the national ensign—may well be questioned. I have no doubt at all as to the impropriety of authorizing the members of a private organization to substitute for the national ensign on their boats a flag of their own designing."

McAdoo's Drastic Suggestion

Whereupon Mr. McAdoo has only asked that the Power Squadrons be compelled to change their proposed flag, but recommended that a proviso to the following effect be inserted in the bill:

"That no vessel documented under the laws of the United States, or if owned by a citizen of the United States and not entitled to be documented, shall fly from the peak or the flag staff any flag but the American national ensign; and for every violation of the provisions of this section the master, owner or person in charge of the offending vessel shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine not exceeding the sum of $500 for each offense or imprisonment not to exceed six months or both."

Secretary of the Navy Daniels wrote to the committee:

"In the opinion of the Department all American vessels should fly the American flag."

He added that the department did not deem it advisable to authorize such corporations as the Power Squadrons to fly certain designated signals, unless certain naval reserve regulations were established for them. The Navy Department is against the present bill.

Department of Commerce Differs.
The Department of Commerce, through Solicitor Thurman, takes a different view based on certain work in which the members of the Power Squadrons cooperate with the department. Mr. Thurman says the squadrons people assist in the enforcement of the navigation laws.

"It is of importance," he wrote to the committee, "that such vessels shall be authorized to carry a distinctive and exclusive flag in order that they may be identified by our inspecting officers, and that unauthorized persons may not avoid inspection by the use of this ensign."

He pointed out that the managing officers of the squadrons make inspections of the vessels of members, thus assisting the department, and believed that the bill should become a law. "It is not impossible that, as a result of the agitation by the Power Squadrons for a distinctive flag, Congress may wipe out all special flag privileges as Secretary McAdoo recommends and compel every American vessel, no matter of what type, to indicate its nationality by displaying the Stars and Stripes at the stern. After that, such a vessel may fly anything it pleases at the fore, or elsewhere."

Several of the teams of the Sunset League, including the Morley Buxton, K. of C. P. A. C. and Y. M. C. A. organizations, are beginning their season of spring training.

SCHILLER WOULD BE MOVIE PIRATE FOR ONLY $25,000

New York, April 6.—Ernest Schiller, up-to-date "pirate" will re-enact his thrilling capture of the British vessel Mutoygo for the movies for $25,000 cash—which is the exact amount of the cash bond demanded today by Commissioner Houghton. Schiller needs the money to get his temporary freedom, so he hopes some enterprising movie company will take him up. Contrary to previous announcement Schiller indicated today when he was arraigned before Commissioner Houghton on a piracy charge, that he will fight extradition to Delaware. His counsel, J. W. Keller, indicated as his line of defense that Schiller's capture out of the vessel ought to be classified as an "act of war." Schiller loudly voiced his approval of this statement. Houghton finally fixed bail at $25,000 pending a hearing on Saturday. It was later announced that Schiller said he was dickering with several movie companies on the proposition of their payment of his bond in return for Schiller's portrayal of his little episode.

A Doleful Prediction.

Considerable has been published about the famous cold summer of 1816, when crops were almost a total failure. It was the coldest summer that was ever experienced since the country was settled, so far as known, and the cause of it has never been explained. It seems to have been one of those freaks which characterize the weather in the United States, though rather more pronounced than usual and a little longer drawn out.

There are men and women living who have heard their grandfathers tell about that uncomfortable and discouraging year, and who themselves remember an exceptionally cold summer, which, however, was no match for that of a century ago. The second visitation of damaging summer cold came, according to old-timers who tell about it, somewhere between fifty and sixty years ago. They say there was frost every month which resulted in a great shortening of the crops, and the Fourth of July is particularly recalled, the day having been uncomfortably cool and there having been a very heavy frost the next morning.

And there are some who are predicting a cold summer this year. This prediction is probably based on the supposition that such a summer is due about once in fifty years, while one prophet bases his forecast on the fact that the past winter was almost exactly like that which preceded the cold summer of half a century ago, which he distinctly remembers.

However, there is no reason to believe that the summer will be cold because there were freak seasons fifty and one hundred years ago. The past winter was old-fashioned enough to suit the most ardent lover of the good old days, and if this means anything it ought to mean that we shall also have an old-fashioned summer and bountiful crops. The great body of snow protected the ground against the frost, and the fields should be ready for the plow earlier than usual. There is plenty of moisture in the soil and all the conditions are right for a fruitful year.

But forecasting the weather is a favorite pastime with many and a harmless one. The prophets may fill the air with bugaboos, but sun and rain go along about their business and year after year the earth yields its abundance of good things, of which there is enough and to spare. It will doubtless be that way this year.

Lord Northcliffe of England, who offered a prize of $50,000 for the first airship flight across the Atlantic, says the offer will hold good "after the war." He considers this a bad time to back that kind of "sport," and it is. But Rodman Wana-maker is not willing to wait for the end of the war and proposes to try it this summer, prize or no prize. The proposition seems extravagant, but in view of what has been accomplished along lines of the apparently impossible it is by no means safe to say that it can't be done.

According to reports from Washington the young men of the country are not so enthusiastic for preparedness as they might be. At any rate, they are not enlisting as fast as desired. It is said that at the present rate it would take nine months to bring the army up to its full authorized strength. However, if a pinch comes there will probably be men enough to fill the ranks. It has always been that way in the past.

It seems that Villa sends Mexican youths to the United States for military training, there now being six at a military academy in California. But these boys are not being fitted for service in the United States army. Villa knows what he wants of them when they are ready for the field, but the chances are that they will never serve under him.

Housewives are being urged as never before to save their rags, which are in great demand for paper stock. The importation of rags has been checked, if not entirely stopped, by the war, and the paper manufacturers are feeling the pinch severely. The result should be prices for rags that will lead to their careful husbanding in every household.

A New England farmer claims to be digging potatoes which have been in the ground all winter, and he says they are as sound and good as they were in the fall. And yet it is generally contended that the past winter was the severest of recent years.

The noble Red Men still has his uses. It has been decided to employ Apache scouts in the hunt for Villa.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Who Knows? Editor—In a discussion in which both parties disagreed and are as far away as ever on the subject, on the origin of the letter O, as used in such Irish names as O'Brien, O'Connell, O'Donnell, etc., and which has to date become very interesting and intense, we decided to leave it to the readers of the Herald. One party to the discussion contends that the O as used above is to signify that the person who is fortunate enough to use it traces his ancestry back to the Irish kings, and are the direct descendants of the Irish nobility. The other party claims that there is absolutely no special distinction attached to the use of the O. He contends that it is nothing more than a matter of choice on the part of the people who use it.

Will some of your readers discuss this interesting subject through the columns of the Herald and give us whatever information they may possess regarding the practice and just what it signifies, that is, if it really has any significance?

Yours very truly,
THOMAS C. McTHEIG,
U. S. Navy Yard,
Portsmouth, April 7, 1916.

CURRENT OPINION

United States Prepared to Meet Any Change of Conditions.

There appears to be every reason to look forward to successful business during the coming months, with prices strong and rising and with bank capital abundant at reasonable rates. It must not be forgotten, however, that the whole world is on an unstable basis and that the continuous depletion of European stocks of capital will inevitably reflect its result upon the United States at the close of the war—perhaps even before that time.

Productive capacity abroad may be quite promptly restored, but the restoration of purchasing power will be a much slower matter.

With the use of sound business judgment and with the general acceptance of the present situation all over the world as temporary and transitional the United States may look forward with confidence to a substantial continuance of its present prosperity and to successful preparation for any changes that may come.—By Charles S. Hamlin, President Federal Reserve Bank.

WANTS TO BE VICE PRESIDENT

Mrs. Marilla M. Ricker of Dover Says She's a Willing Candidate.

There was a head-on collision in "the ring" yesterday when Theodore Roosevelt's hat banged into Marilla M. Ricker's bonnet.

"Mrs. Ricker, who by the way is the same Marilla of Dover, who (think freely) writes books, runs for governor of New Hampshire every year, and who works night and day for the emancipation of women, announced her candidacy for the Republican vice presidency yesterday afternoon.

"There is a string and a good robust rope attached to her announcement. The string is—'providing that they can find no men to take the job.' The rope—'providing Theodore Roosevelt doesn't win the Republican nomination for President.'

"You want to know what the bird was that Theodore Roosevelt brought back from South America," almost shouted Mrs. Ricker at the Parker House, Boston, yesterday afternoon.

"Well, it was a deepy duck, and it's caught Mr. Roosevelt."

Which made it very evident that Mrs. Ricker wasn't on the verge of shouting "Hurrah for Teddy!" "Roosevelt! Roosevelt!" she scoffed as her eyes lit with fire.

"The best thing that can possibly happen is to have the River of Doubt flow between that man and the voters next November," she said with spirit. "Mark my words, if he is chosen President of this country we will swallow in war and the nation will go down and a dictatorship will arise, and the dictator will be Roosevelt."

"What do I think of Wilson? Why he is so much better than Roosevelt (that he is an angel, Hughes is the man though, and if they can't get a man to run for the vice presidency on the Republican ticket, I'll run with Hughes. If I was handed the gate of Heaven tomorrow as a reward for running with Roosevelt, I'd hand back the key."

"Teddy says, if the country wants me I'll run—think of the nerve of him!"

Anyway Mrs. Ricker shied her bonnet in the ring yesterday and she is 76 years old, and heavy as a college girl.

GERMANS MAKE FURTHER GAINS

Teutons Hurl Fresh Troops Against the French.

Paris, April 7.—German troops have made further gains west of the Meuse river, while the French continue to advance east of the river. It is a furious night attack, the Teutons penetrated the first line trenches of the French on the Bethincourt northwest of Verdun, but they were thrown back. The Germans drove violently against the French position on the Bethincourt-Chatenault road following a vigorous bombardment and succeeded in entering them. Counter attacks were immediately launched by the French. At every point except one, the Germans were forced back. They managed to hold one section over a width of 300 yards, northeast of Verdun. The French delivered further attacks against the German position southwest of Daumont. The Germans were unable to withstand the furious onslaught and had to give further ground. The Germans are making violent efforts to stem the French advance in the Daumont region, hurling in fresh troops for support. Infantry fighting is now in progress over the widest front in the Verdun section since the great battle opened 47 days ago.

DEATH OF EXETER MAN

Leonard D. Hunt Was Well Known Printer and Prominent in Fraternal Circles.

Leonard D. Hunt, 43 years of age, one of Exeter's leading business men, died at the Exeter Cottage hospital, Thursday noon after a five days' illness with pneumonia. He had conducted the Hunt print shop since 1900, coming from Brentwood, where for 11 years he had been engaged in a like business, being manager of the printing plant of George H. Fellows. Mr. Hunt was taken to the hospital Saturday evening of last week.

He was a native of Bradford, Mass., born March 18, 1873, son of Ira and Carrie (Flanders) Hunt, and was educated at the public schools in Haverhill, Mass. He learned the printer's trade and worked at it in Haverhill for a time. Later he went to Brentwood. In 1900 he came here and entered business, in which John M. Rowe of Epping joined him as a partner in 1912. In 1899 he was married to Miss Edna Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hamilton of Exeter, who died suddenly in 1910. From this union there were two children, Mary C. and Edward H. Hunt, both of whom are survivors. A second marriage was to Miss Winnie Daniels of Ashland, a daughter of Charles and Mink (Whiten) Daniels of that town. Mr. Hunt was a Republican and an attendant of the Methodist church.

He was also a Mason of high standing, being past high priest of the St. Albans Royal Arch chapter, past master of the Olivet Council, and a member of the De Witt Clinton commandery. He was also a past patron of the Orient chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, a member of the Friendship council, Royal Arcanum, and of the National Grange, besides the Gilman Grange, and a member of the Royal and Select Masters of New Hampshire, a Masonic order. Survivors are a widow, two children and his father.

STATE G. A. R. HOLDS ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

and 1500 of the thousands, who went forth at the call to defend their country.

Commander-in-chief Elia H. Montfort of Cincinnati was here for the encampment arriving in the city at 11.35 Thursday morning. He attended the session in the afternoon and delivered the principal address at the campfire Thursday evening. The national officers of all the organizations were present, including Commander-in-Chief Stephens of the Sons of Veterans, the national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, Mrs. Carrie Alexander Behrenburg of Cincinnati, the national president of the Daughters of Veterans, Miss Katherine R. A. Flood of Cincinnati, the national president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., Mrs. Alice Dean Schneider of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The absence of two prominent veterans caused much sadness among veterans. Department Commander Martin B. Plummer of Laconia and General J. N. Patterson of Concord are both ill and were unable to be at the encampment. Commander Plummer has been in poor health for a year, but General Patterson became indisposed only the other day. He had been a conspicuous figure at the encampments since the organization of the Grand Army, this being the first he has missed when he was in the state. It was a matter of keen regret both to himself and his comrades-in-arms that he could not be about to greet them. The general also was obliged to forgo attendance at the meeting of the Royal Legion in Boston last night.

All of the organizations held business sessions on Thursday afternoon. The Daughters have their headquarters in the general committee room at the state house. The Sons of Veterans are holding their meeting in Capital hall on Warren street, the Reller Corps at the First Baptist church, the Ladies of the G. A. R. at the Baker Memorial Church and the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary in Concord hall.

The Veterans' meeting was opened in Representatives hall at 1.30 with Senior Vice Commander Reuben T. Leavitt of Pittsfield presiding. In the absence of Department Commander Plummer. The business of the department was transacted including the reports and election of officers.

Officers were elected as follows: Commander, Reuben T. Leavitt, Pittsfield; Senior Vice Commander—C. W. Hobbs of Nashua.

Junior Vice Commander, Eugene Wasson, Milford; Medical Director, O. H. Douglas, Concord.

Department Chaplain, E. W. Ricker, Alton; Council of Administration, J. M. Sanborn, Lakeport; J. F. Clough, Manchester; J. B. Cobb, Nashua; H. H. Martin, Hillsborough; A. R. Hood, Claremont.

Representatives, W. W. Gould, Pittsfield; P. P. Fiske, Epping; C. H. Estes, Farmington; Edmund Tetlow, Laconia; David Jones, Pennacook; M. L. Morrison, Peterborough.

Alternates, C. W. Leighton, Pittsfield; M. W. Webster, Salem; H. L. Harris, Sutton; H. T. Sherman, Claremont; John Bernard Hopkinton; E. A. Kingsbury, Keene. The Woman's Relief Corps met at the Free Baptist church on Thursday afternoon. They listened to addresses by the national president, Mrs. Behrenburg, and by Commander-in-Chief Montfort. After the addresses and the reports had been made the corps proceeded with the election of officers, but had named only three when adjournment was taken at six o'clock. The officers elected were: President, Gertrude M. Howison of Milford; senior vice president, Nellie M. C. White of Deerfield; junior vice president, Cora J. Hoyt of Nashua. The other officers will be elected today.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. have headquarters at Baker Memorial church where meetings were held this morning and afternoon. The day was devoted mainly to social interchanges and listening to addresses by the national officers and president, Anna E. Spaulding of Nashua and A. J. Sargent of Concord who delivered an eloquent address of welcome to the visiting national officers.

The national officers present included the president, Katherine DeLacy Roche of Scranton, Pa.; Senior Vice President May Tarbox of Fryeburg, Me.; and Past National Secretary Martha Gilman. A past Massachusetts department president, Mrs. Murphy of Lynn, was also present. The ladies of the G. A. R. are having their third annual encampment and have a membership of 253, 16 being members of A. B. Thompson tent of this city. Included in the membership are 41 veterans and 28 grandsons of veterans.

Commander Leavitt presided at the campfire held on Thursday evening and addresses of welcome were given by Mayor Nathaniel W. Hobbs for the city and by Governor Roland H. Spaulding for the state. Past Department Commander A. D. S. Covel of Manchester spoke for the state department and the Commander-in-Chief Elia H. Montfort of Cincinnati for the national body. Mrs. Carrie Alexander Behrenburg of Belleville, Ill., president of the National Woman's Relief Corps, spoke, as did Commander-in-Chief Stephens of Ohio for the Sons of Veterans; Miss Katherine Flood of Boston national president for the Daughters of Veterans; Mrs. Alice Dean Schneider of Chattanooga, national senior vice president for the Ladies of the G. A. R. and George V. Hill of Concord for the Spanish War Veterans. Col. George A. Hoxley of Boston, past commander of the department of Massachusetts, also spoke.

Governor Spaulding said the warlike spirit of the times is forcing us as a nation to take account of our material resources, with which, if necessary, compels the national liberty and honor can be defended. But to him the one great need seemed to be that spirit of loyalty which gave so thrilling and tremendous an answer to Lincoln's call in 1861.

MARRIED MEN CALLED TO THE COLORS

London, April 7.—The first married men under the group system were called upon today by the war office. They range from 25 to 32 years of age.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, besides it's done so naturally and evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-made-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation, or prevention of disease.

PARALYZED BY ACCIDENT

Sanbornton Man Caught Between Lintel of Barn Door and Load of Hay.

Laconia, April 7.—Charles F. Braley, 46, of Sanbornton, lies at the Laconia hospital, paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a peculiar accident that befell him Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Braley was engaged in teaming loads of baled hay to the barn of John Morrison at Winslow, before entering the barn with a big load, he stopped his horse and stood up a moment. The horse started suddenly and entered the barn. Mr. Braley did not have time to jump from the load and as a result was caught between the lintel and the baled hay.

He received such serious injuries that he was taken to the hospital. He had been there but a short time under the care of Dr. W. H. True when it was realized that his condition was serious. Paralysis set in below the waist and in addition he sustained many other more or less serious abrasions.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Say a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat, sears and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow, and feel just as if you were in a bad way, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all of the previous day's indigestible waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel, like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and refreshing, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

FRENCH RESIST ATTACKS OF GERMANS AT VERDUN

Stronghold Holding Out Against Strongest Offensive Teutons Have Yet Made.—Turks Losing Against British and Russian Forces.

Paris, April 6.—The War Office announced this afternoon capture by the French of a large portion of the position north of Avocourt, known as Bois Carre, or "Square Woods." This ground was captured in the course of fighting which went on all of yesterday afternoon and last night in the Verdun region west of the Meuse on the Avocourt-Bethincourt line.

At one point along the Avocourt-Bethincourt line the Germans succeeded in penetrating French positions.

Two attacks were made by German troops against French positions north of Callette wood, but they were with out result.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the region of Verdun the enemy, after the relative calm of yesterday afternoon, gave evidence of very great activity during the evening hours. As the night progressed there took place to the west of the Meuse a bombardment of extreme violence in the region between Avocourt and Bethincourt. This was followed by a series of attacks in which large numbers of men took part against the two principal salients of this front. All the efforts of the enemy against the village of Bethincourt were checked by our fire.

"During this same time the enemy delivered a furious attack on the centre, against the village of Haucourt. In spite of repeated checks and of bloody sacrifices they were successful in getting a footing during the night in this village. We now hold the village under the fire of our dominating positions.

"On our side, after a short preparatory artillery fire, we delivered a spirited attack, our men coming out from the redoubt of Avocourt, their purpose being to connect this redoubt with one of our works situated on the boundary line of the wood to the north of Avocourt. During this operation, which was in all respects successful, we occupied a large portion of the territory known as 'Les Bois Carre' and took fifty prisoners.

"To the east of the River Meuse two attacks on the part of the enemy directed against our position to the north of the Callette wood resulted only in serious losses to the Germans.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

French Win in Argonne
Paris, April 6.—The official report of operations in the Argonne issued today says:

"In the Argonne district a surprise attack delivered by us this morning on one of the enemy's trenches near the highway of St. Hubert resulted in our inflicting perceptible losses on our adversaries and in bringing back to our lines some twenty prisoners.

"During this attack our artillery, in the next section, violently bombarded that portion of the Avocourt woods occupied by the Germans."

Deluge Lines With Shells

The following official communication was issued by the War Office last night:

"In Belgium a destructive fire on the enemy trenches in front of Steenstrate gave good results.

"North of the Alsne our artillery was active between the Beau-Marais wood, south of Craonne, and Berry-au-Bac."

"In the Argonne our artillery continued to direct concentrated fires on lines and lines of communication on the enemy's front, especially in the region of Montfaucon and the Malancourt wood."

British Spring More Mines
London, April 6.—The British official statement on the campaign in the west issued reads:

"Last night we sprung mines successfully near Hutuch and damaged a hostile gallery, and wrecked posts established in the old craters. Today, we bombarded hostile works near Bois Grenier, with good effect."

"About St. Mihiel, the artillery of both sides was very active. North of the Ypres-St. Julien road, our heavy artillery carried out a successful bombardment, doing much damage to the trenches and causing numerous explosions."

Spirited Belgian Artillery Action
Paris, April 6.—The Belgian official communication reads:

"The artillery action was particularly spirited today in the central section of the Belgian army."

Russians Crush Attack
Petrograd, via London, April 6.—The official communication from General headquarters reads as follows:

"In the regions of Riga, Jacobstadt and Dyvinsk there was cannonading and rifle firing at many points. On the Dyvinsk the ice is breaking up."

"South of the region of Dyvinsk numerous enemy aeroplane flights have occurred. Bombs and machine guns have been used. In the region east of Rindnovitchi Zeppelins were observed Tuesday night."

"Gallia: West of Tarnopol, a considerable body of the enemy opened an offensive but were repulsed at the point of the bayonet, abandoning a greater number of killed and wounded close to our entanglements. In the region north of Lantache our detachments occupied the village of Sviatkovitza and surrounding woods."

Turks Rally Futile

Petrograd, April 6.—The official report regarding operations in the Caucasus issued says:

"In the littoral the Turks, supported by their cruiser Breslau, attacked our right flank. We repulsed the attack, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. Our troops simultaneously attacked the enemy's centre in the same region and captured a portion of his positions. In the basin of the upper Tchoruk we dislodged the enemy from a series of his strongly fortified mountain positions."

KITTERY POINT

A flock of evening grasshoppers have been seen by the teachers and children of the Mitchell school. They seem to have chosen for their quarters a spot back of the building where they may be seen at almost any time. They are rarely seen any farther east of the Mississippi river but have been taken several times to Massachusetts. In winter they usually travel around in small bands, visiting locations where food seems the most abundant. They are about the size of a large robin, with black and white wings and black tail. The body is yellow with a large bright yellow spot on the top of the head. The song of the evening grasshopper is a clear bobolink whistle, while the call is a short whistle.

Thursday evening prayer meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Pringle at Hutchins Corner.

Mrs. William Seward of Portsmouth passed Thursday with Mrs. Henry Blake.

The K. P. G. Embroidery club will meet with Mrs. Thurston Patch on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Haven Riley very pleasantly entertained a few friends at his home at Pinelton, last evening.

WITH THE SPORTS

A revival of the ancient sport of baseball will occur next week in the northern section of the United States.

This game was very much in favor with the populace before the time of the big show and the contests were usually attended by large crowds.

These gatherings seemed to be on terms of familiarity with the combatants and frequently exhorted the home players to execute approving shrieks of "Alla boy!" "He's some kid!" However when the players failed to fulfill the orders of the populace, or even in their attack, they became at once the target for violent verbal attacks.

It was the inevitable custom in the olden days for the populace to form a faithful hatred for an ineffective appearing person known as the umpire. He was not a combatant and did not favor either side. His place in the sport merely was to give certain rulings and to require that the laws of the game were upheld. Despite this, the folks frequently demanded that he be killed either by lynching or other means. On many occasions the umpire was subjected to a bombardment of bottles which earlier had contained cooling beer, a favorite beverage of that era.

The game is played in a large field known as the diamond. Just why it should bear such a peculiar name is a mystery, as the area is flat, it does not sparkle and it has no facets. The field is made up of two parts. One is called the outfield and the other the infield. The infield contains three sacks of canvas, known as bases, and the home plate made of rubber. The distance from one base to the other is nearly 90 feet, so that a person making the circuit from home plate all around the bases and back to home plate again covers approximately 360 feet.

Nine men compose a team. The object of the contest is for one side to score more runs than the others. To score a run means to complete the circuit from home plate without being put out. A white, round object known as the ball is used. This has a cork center, is wound tightly with yarn and then covered with horsehide. Large wooden sticks, called bats, also are used and the players wear heavy leather mittens to protect their hands from the impact of the ball when it is driven by the bat.

The pitcher occupies the most important position on the team. It is his duty to throw the ball and twist it so as to deceive the batter who stands at home plate. The batter is allowed three swings at the ball. In case he fails to hit it he becomes a fan victim and must cease his batting endeavors until his turn comes around again.

The catcher is the man who stands behind the plate and traps all the balls that the batters fail to hit. The other players are designated as infielders, according to their stations when in the field. All the players are assigned to their positions by a higher power, called manager, who is the supreme power so far as his own team is concerned.

The teams alternately indulge in "ins and outs." When a team is on the line, it means that it is taking its turn at the bat, attempting to smite the ball. The other team—the one in the field—is then having its outs.

When a team is having its ins, the batter tries to drive the ball out of reach of the opposing men. In case he does he is credited with a hit. As soon as he hits the ball he starts to run for first base and continues to run until he has completed the circuit or until the opposing players have relieved the ball and thrown it to some base ahead of him. In such case the batter stops at the base nearest him and waits there hopeful that the next batter also will score a hit, thus enabling him to advance nearer to the home plate.

Nine innings make up a regular game. An inning is finished when both sides have their ins. A side remains in until the opposing players have put out three of its batters. Then the other team does the batting.

It is the desire of all players to achieve runs. The home players always are encouraged by the spectators in these contests, but the lovers of baseball as far as the often times are concerned, lack courtesy. They have no affectionate feeling for the visiting players and never beseech them to make runs. In fact, the spectators always seem deeply grieved over such a happening and frequently have broken forth with cries of "Horseshoes," "You lucky clogs," etc.

Billy Gibson was right. Six months ago he said he held under his wing the greatest lightweight batter since the days of Joe Gans.

"His name is Benny Leonard," said Gibson. "I've been sending him along slowly during the past year. Now he's ready. Watch him go."

New York watched him against several ordinary battlers—and Leonard showed up his adversaries. It matched him with Johnny Dundee and voted him a higher ranking—and then came the real test—the battle with Freddie Welsh.

Some of the natives figured that after meeting Welsh he would make his departure from the ring under the auspices of the Red Cross. But what a surprise that fight occasioned. Leonard outpunched, outgeneralized, outrushed, outboxed and outpointed the champion in practically every round.

The young Jewish boy stands out today as the greatest all around boxer and fighter the ring game has produced in many years. The old timers insist that Joe Gans was a bit shiffler but they admit that if Leonard improves at the rate he has shown during the past six months, he will become the superior of Gans in his prime.

There is nothing in the pugilistic way that Leonard cannot do. As a boxer he has as many knockouts to his credit as the best men in his division today. He has a shrewd brain, is always cool, and has wonderful endurance powers.

Leonard's aggressiveness has made him the popular hero around New York. The way he went after Freddie Welsh round after round never will be forgotten. He fought with the confidence of a champion. He never gave Welsh a moment's rest. He was in and out and in again like lightning flashes.

Every man that meets Leonard must fight or take a terrific beating. Welsh thought during the first few rounds that he could lay back and depend upon his defense. But Leonard rushed him time and again and broke through Welsh's guard so frequently that it created astonishment among the assembled fans.

Leonard's timing of punches is perfect. Rarely does he waste a punch—and he is always swinging or jabbing. Nine out of every ten punches that he starts finds a mark. And it is the mark at which he aimed. Welsh's defense has been superb, against the ordinary boxers. Against Leonard it was useless. The New York boy hit him where he pleased.

The little Hebrew is fast foot—far faster than Welsh. He is always jumping around—over on the move. And rarely does he back away. He is after his man from go to gong. A walloper that would daze an ordinary fighter never hits him. Dundee landed some terrific punches to Leonard's head and body. So did Welsh, but Leonard kept moving on.

Mechanically Leonard is perfect. And added to this he has a wonderful brain and seems to know instinctively when to duck or sidestep. Time and again in his fights with Leonard and Dundee he moved before a punch was started. Any other boxer wouldn't have known the punch was coming, but Leonard did.

The confidence of Leonard is a wonderful thing to behold. He fights all ways with the belief that he is the superior of his rival. And he is always calm and collected. When the fighting was hottest in the Leonard-Dundee fight, Leonard often smiled. Several times in the final round of the Welsh fight, when the champion was doing some punching and rushing, Leonard backed him against the ropes and put up his guard and winked at his seconds. On another occasion he recognized some friends in a nearby seat and waved a glove.

Leonard's footwork and his boxing are pretty sights. He is light footed, lighter by far than any of the other topnotchers. And his defense is getting better all the time. He has one disconcerting trick of dodging a swing and then dipping so low that his head almost touches the ground. Like a flash he assumes an upright position again. And when he comes up he is ready to shoot a wallop.

Leonard knows all the ring tricks of the big masters—and a few of his own. And the 20 year old boy has been fighting only three years. He has mingled in over 30 bouts, but 60 of them were of the preliminary sort. It is only during the past six or eight months that he has become a topnotcher.

He is today the greatest lightweight in the game. He has beaten the best and he doted out to Freddie Welsh the worst walloper the champion ever got in a lively round bout to

NEW HAMPSHIRE PRESS ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL MEETING

GOVERNOR McCALL OF MASSACHUSETTS TO ADDRESS ASSOCIATION AT MEETING ON APRIL 15.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association will be held in West Hall, Odd Fellows Building, Manchester, a week from Saturday and will be followed by a banquet.

Many important matters will come up for consideration at the annual meeting—report of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution—report of the secretary—treasurer—election of officers and other business.

The banquet promises to be an elaborate affair and will be prepared by Chef Holmes of the Derryfield Club, and a fine program has been arranged by the committee under the direction of secretary Ernest A. Bourneval.

Among the speakers to be present are His Excellency, Governor Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, on "New England Solidarity." His excellency, Rolland H. Spaulding, governor of New Hampshire on "The State of New Hampshire and the Press." Hon. Harry W. Spaulding, Mayor of Manchester, who will deliver the address of "Welcome." Major Frank Knox, editor of The Manchester Union-Leader, will speak on "The Editor's Responsibility."

Philip W. Ayres, forester of the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, will speak on "Conservation and Reforestation."

In view of the prominence of the association's guests, the executive committee has voted to extend invitations to the delegates to the several national political conventions, also to other prominent men active in state affairs. These have been invited to attend the banquet on the same terms with members of the association. It is expected that many will accept the invitation.

The members of the New Hampshire Weekly Publishers' Association have been extended a special invitation to be present whether members of the association or not.

A decision he ought to take at least 13 rounds from Welsh—if the fight went the entire route. It is doubtful if Welsh with all his trickery could last 20 rounds against Leonard. The youngster would likely wear down the champion along about the twelfth or thirteenth and would measure Welsh's jaw for a knockout wallop, which he carries in either jaw.

Benny Leonard will be the next lightweight champion of the world if Welsh ever gives him a chance over the decision route.

GREAT BRITAIN MAY ARM ALL HER MERCHANT VESSELS

ENGLAND THINKING OF ADOPTING ITALIAN PLAN.—THE ENGLISHMAN MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAVED IF SHE HAD HAD A DEFENSIVE GUN.

London, April 6.—The opinion is expressed in navy circles having access to the report on the torpedoing of the British steamship Englishman that the vessel would have been saved if she had carried a defensive gun, as the submarine was plainly seen as she pursued and shelled the steamer for some distance.

Since last August, when the British steamer Walmann was compelled by a ruling of the State Department at Washington to dismount a gun before clearing from Newport News, British merchantmen calling at American ports have been unarmed. The recent ruling of the State Department allowing an Italian armed liner to clear from an American port on the assurance that she was armed only for defensive purposes, has caused much interest here in official circles and it would not be surprising if the British Government, going on this precedent, should arm merchantmen trading in American ports.

The official reports show that seven or eight neutral vessels have been torpedoed without any warning whatsoever since the new German submarine campaign began. These reports indicate that the following neutral ships have been sunk without warning in the month of March:

Norwegian—Stilus, Langelle and Karakul.

Dutch—Tubantia and Palembang.

Swedish—Hollandia.

Danish—Skadeborg.

The following vessels were warned and the crews permitted to take to the boats:

Spanish—Vigo.

Norwegian—Noene, Hell, Lindholm and Hans Gude.

The Danish steamer Harriet is placed in the doubtful list as evidence of this vessel having been torpedoed is inconclusive.

Thus seven are listed as having been sunk without warning; five after warning and one doubtful. The naval authorities point out as a significant fact that although a number of these were sunk in the Atlantic tracks frequented by American ships not a single ship flying the American flag appears in the list.

ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE.

Each French division has a regular permanent court martial attached to it, which collects evidence of military crimes, tries offenders and carries out sentences.

One of the officers of such a court martial was induced to talk about his sombre duties. He said:

"You must remember that armies today are made up of millions of men, men of all shades and colors of political sentiments and religious creeds, Anarchists, Socialists, Republicans and Royalists, Atheists and Ultramontans, Jews and Mohammedans. Out of this material we have welded together an army the like of which the world has never seen. And this applies equally to our Allies, and no less to our enemies.

"In these armies absolute obedience is demanded of every man, and a high plane of intelligent efficiency is required of the individual in order that he may maintain the standard of the discipline of modern armies. Yet when I tell you that during the 18 months of war, I have been continually occupied in my present functions with my division and we have brought before the court martial only about 315 men, of whom 15 have been executed, and 9 who received capital sentences, pardoned, you can see for yourself the astonishingly fine discipline of our armies.

"You would perhaps be surprised but most of our cases are due to thoughtlessness on the part of the 'pou'. Every soldier knows that to abandon his post in the face of the enemy, no matter how brief a moment is punishable by death and some times the best of men have been shot for this seemingly small breach of discipline, which nevertheless is the worst crime in the whole military service.

"And strangely, it is not the 'bad eggs' of whom there are of course, a few in every regiment—who give us this trouble, but rather the better sort of young fellows who cannot understand the military necessity of so harsh a discipline.

"I will recall our first court martial of a case of this kind. We were new in the business ourselves but it was a flagrant breach and to check its repetition it had to be dealt with according to the code of war. The man was duly tried and sentenced. I went to him and read the death sentence. He listened without seeming to understand what had taken place and that he was condemned to die.

"That night I instructed an officer to call for a firing squad. Our firing squads are always composed of volunteers for the task. We had to commandeer a squad.

"The prisoner was marched out at dawn, stood quietly facing the leveled rifles and died without flinching. I am sure he never realized the gravity of his offense. But war is war. No it is different. The man knew the value of discipline know that a breach of discipline will endanger the lives of their comrades, or even the safety of France and through breaches of this kind they are all met in a different spirit.

"Is the family notified that a man has been executed?" the interviewer asked.

"Yes and no," the officer replied. "The French code is peculiar. Notification of death is sent to the family soon after the execution as though the man had died in action. Then three months later the family receives a notice from the local military authorities demanding the payment of the sums of twelve francs fifty-five centimes—the expense of the execution. But otherwise there is no publicity. The grave is not marked officially, but a record is kept so that it will not be difficult to locate it later on.

"Breaches of discipline towards superior officers are unknown chiefly because we form one big family at the front. The men are so well looked after by their officers that they are as a rule beloved by them.

"In every regiment there are one or two men to whom military service is congenial. Some are nervous and others cowardly, others what you might call 'conscientious objectors', but France takes no notice of the whims or beliefs of the individual and when the life of the nation is at stake, every able-bodied man, be he priest or puritan must go into the ranks with the rest.

"These men who are sick of the trenches spend their time devising a way to get away. The easiest way to get an honorable discharge they seem to think is to wound themselves, shoot off their trigger-finger and the like. This is a capital offense in time of war.

"But the case I refer to is that of a young lieutenant who was married three days before the outbreak of the war. He was a gallant young soldier, a fearless officer. But after a few weeks he became homesick, lovesick, or what ever you have mind to call it. To get back to his wife was his one desire. Months past and he could not leave so he took matters into his own hands. He did not stop to think that it would soon be discovered that his wound had been caused by a French bullet.

"He was court martialed and sentenced to be executed. I read the death sentence and a few hours later a pardon which reached us. But the lieutenant knew his duty and fell fighting in the field without ever seeing his wife again.

"One must love no one but one's country in time of war."

N. H. COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, April 6.—Dr. A. E. Richards of the department of English, who is arranging for an observance here of the Shakespeare ter centenary, intends to give those who are present an opportunity to sample some 16th century food. Not that the food itself is to date from the days of Queen Elizabeth, but it is to be made from recipes which have been handed down from that time. The girls of the prepare the dishes and they will be served by girls garbed in the costumes of the period. Miss Goldie Basch of Ashuelot is taking charge of the cooking, and preparations are now under way for the gowns of Viola, Maria, Katherine, Mistress Quickly and the others.

The orchestra will be costumed also, the music will be Shakespearean, and appropriate, posters will advertise the performance. This will consist of a list dozen scenes selected from the comedies, and acted by undergraduate casts.

The Morris dances which will be given under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Rollins are now being rehearsed.

A. R. Lovejoy of Boston, coach of the dramatic club picked his cast for the spring play yesterday afternoon. This year the club gives "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde as the opening event of Prom Week and rehearsals are to begin at once.

Mr. Lovejoy after hearing all parts read by a large field of candidates selected the following, but explained that his decision was not necessarily final: Gwendolyn, Eleanor Currier of Lockmere, Cecile, Ethel, Kellie of Dover; Lady Bracknell, Mary Worcester of Berwick, Miss Prism, Alice Coffin of Bosaween, Algernon, E. L. Blake, of Gilmanton, Jack, Arthur Morgan of Durham, Mr. Chasuble, Roy Graham of Canby, Laing, George E. Ryans of East Kingston, Merriman, W. T. Tapley of Revue, Mass. Mr. Tapley is stage manager. The production will be staged at the Dover Opera house.

The college Glee Club held its annual election last night, and R. L. Davis of Newport was chosen leader for next year. F. W. Fitch of Cornish is the new manager and C. A. Bennett of Wakefield his assistant. The club has decided to give a minstrel show, this year instead of the usual light opera.

START RUMOR PORTLAND AND SANFORD LINE

NEW TROLLEY ROAD IS INTERESTING REPORT FROM YORK CO.

Sanford, April 6.—Because of the arrival of ex-Governor Cobb and party of business men in East Waterboro it became rumored about that there was a movement on foot to establish trolley service between Sanford and Portland. If such a line were built it would pass through Sanford, Alfred, Waterboro, East Waterboro and the small towns on to Gorham and then connection would be made with the line to Portland.

Following this rumor another one went through the air to the effect that a loop line was to be built around Sanford and Springvale. Upon investigation it was learned the ex-governor and his party were en route to Lincoln where they have some business interests. The rumor regarding the proposed trolley line to Springvale from Sanford by way of Main street has some foundation however. It is said this morning by a man in a position to know, that this has been the plan for a long time and now that the erection of the new high school between the two villages on a site given by Hon. Frank J. Allen is contemplated, the hastening of the building of this loop is expected in order to accommodate the children for if there were no trolley line they would be obliged to walk some distance to school.

Hon. Frank J. Allen, attorney for the Atlantic Shore Line Railway, said this morning that he had always been in favor of this new line between Sanford and Springvale and that there is no doubt but what, if this line is built the matter of division of the two towns which has been a bone of contention for a long time, would be forgotten forever.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, softness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Subject, "At the Hub of South Africa"

SPEAKER—REV. F. B. BRIDGMAN
Missionary and Traveler.

Where thirty years ago roamed herds of wild antelope has arisen a modern city. Forty per cent. of the world's gold comes from this region. Greater Johannesburg, popularly called "The Rand," with its nearly half million inhabitants, is one of the most cosmopolitan cities of the empire. The Golden City is not only the financial, industrial, and political hub of South Africa, but also its storm center. Mr. Bridgman tells a very interesting story of life and work in "The Rand," and of the influences radiating from it.

HAD NOT MET

IN 52 YEARS

Last Meeting Was in the Days of Civil War in the South.

Hon. Frank W. Hackett, of New Castle and Washington was a recent guest at a campfire of one of the leading clubs in Washington during which he related a very interesting experience.

Mr. Hackett, who at one time was assistant secretary of the navy, was assistant paymaster of the Miami war back in 1864. He was on board when the Confederate ironclad Albatross, drove the Miami off after sinking the Southfield. Last week Mr. Hackett in attending the campfire as a guest of Major Steadman, a Confederate officer, immediately recognized Perry DeLeon, who was paymaster of the Albatross at the time of the Albatross-Miami incident, as one of the speakers. Mr. Hackett and Mr. DeLeon had not met in 52 intervening years and both tinged their afternoon speeches with reminiscences of the old wartime incident.

THE HERALD HEARS

That Bellows Falls, Vt., is bidding for eloping couples to visit its Green Green for the finishing touch of Dan Cupid.

That quite a few of Dan's pupils from Boston have pulled it off there lately but it broke into their bank account pretty much for expenses.

That Bellows Falls is too far away and appears not to have effected the business of the local Green Green.

That it costs a couple nearly $25 to complete the job in the Green Mountain state, while they can get out of it here for less than $10.

That the five day law in this state seems to be no bar to the lovely maiden who puts the Leap Year clump on her steady and wants a husband quick.

That a lot of the preliminaries are arranged by telephone.

That star chamber sessions at city hall are getting to be the real thing.

That people who are inclined to be numbered on the charitable list should not forget the good work of the District Nursing Association.

That the S. P. C. A. should take a view of the dog kennels off Deer street.

That it will be a big mistake not to put in the spur track to the fair grounds on Sherburne avenue.

That the Nashua Lodge of Elks entertained Grand Exalted Ruler James R. Nicholson on Thursday night.

That it was the first visit of the official head of the order since the lodge was instituted.

That the boys certainly did the honors on the occasion of the birthday of a popular Congress street lady clerk which occurred on Thursday.

That the Dover howling team certainly stopped the spirit of the Portsmouth bowlers on the local alleys on Thursday night.

That it is safe to say that it must be a fast team that can win against the Cocheco City aggregation.

That the Little Bowers A. C. is talking of a change in its name—good idea.

The ship comes to take back to Cadiz, Spain, the bodies of thirty-one prisoners who passed away in the stockade following the battle of Santiago, July 5, 1898.

All plans connected with the removal of the bodies from the naval hospital have not yet been fully completed but Capt. W. L. Howard, commandant of the navy yard, informed the Herald today that the Navy Department would carry out full military honors on this occasion and the bodies will be escorted from the hospital to the water front by the Marine Guard, band, etc.

This will occur on Wednesday, April 12. The Spanish ambassador and the Spanish military attaché at Washington will be present along with the captain and other officers of the Almirante Lobo. The ceremonies no doubt will be witnessed by a large number of people.

SCORED SUCCESS IN SONG RECITAL

MISS BEATRICE HARTFORD OF THIS CITY PLEASED LARGE AUDIENCE AT ELIOT LAST EVENING.

A large audience made up of lovers of music from this city, Kittery and Eliot were present on Thursday evening at Grange Hall, Eliot, and enjoyed the song recital rendered by Miss Beatrice Elizabeth Hartford of this city.

A pupil of E. Morse Wemple of the New England Conservatory of Music, Miss Hartford's program was excellently selected, her numbers allowing her the opportunity of displaying her artistic execution of difficult and the more simple compositions to the best advantage. Miss Hartford scored a distinct success and proved herself an excellent soloist.

All of her numbers were received with hearty applause at their conclusion and several encores were demanded. Among her numbers most enjoyed were Tosatti's "Goodbye," "Because of You," by Putnam, and "La Serenata," also by Tosatti.

Miss Hartford was finely accompanied at the piano by Miss Florence G. Marshall of Portsmouth and during the program she rendered "The Legend," by Forjussen in an excellent and accomplished manner.

The program:

"Because of You".....Putnam

"Kismet".....Putnam
